for HISTORIC PRESERVATION

Most Endangered Historic Places covering Calendar Year 2016

Call for Nominations

Nomination Submission Deadline: Friday, March 3, 2017

The Louisiana Trust for Historic Preservation (LTHP) needs your assistance in identifying for Calendar Year 2016, historic properties within Louisiana considered to be endangered and a candidate for the Most Endangered Historic Places list. A historic place or property can be a building, structure, site (including archeological), object, district, landscape or streetscape with no limit to the number of candidates nominated by a community, group, or an individual. A single Nomination Form is used for each individual nomination and this Nomination Form can be duplicated as needed for multiple nominations.

Criteria for consideration for listing:

- Nominated property is historic (at least 50 years old; younger if notably historically unique) and significantly threatened by direct demolition, demolition by neglect, or other threat.
- There is reasonable potential for a positive outcome to prevent demolition and for rehabilitation and repurpose.

Complete and return the Nomination Form and photographs to the LTHP's point of contact. Quality photographs of the exterior and interior (if practical) are needed to show the current physical condition of the nominated historic property. Vintage photographs reflecting the nominated historic property are suggested, but not required.

Submitted nominations are not returnable and submission provides the right by LTHP to use all submitted material on websites, in print, and in media.

Point of contact for information and submission of nominations is LTHP Revolving Fund Manager, Brian M. Davis, cell: 318.267.5220. Submission is via DropBox and/or email lthp.revolvingfund@gmail.com.
